EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH BOBBI JO REED

Interview by Rob Hannley, Editor in Chief, Recovery Today Magazine

She lived UNDER a box car. UNDER.

Besides being hopelessly addicted, selling her body and being horrifically abused, she lived underneath a box car.

Hearing the story of Bobbi Jo Reed, was heartbreaking. I don't remember hearing a story of greater abuse. Rape (many, many times), beating, torture, kidnapping, prostitution, addiction; the beginning chapters of this story are completely void of hope.

I also can't remember a story, from lows this low to highs as high as they are now. From void of hope to beacon of hope. The story, in her own words, you're about to hear is so remarkable in fact, it's been turned into a documentary called, "Bobbi Jo Under the Influence" on Amazon and other platforms.

Besides being hopelessly addicted, selling her body and being horrifically abused, she lived underneath a box car.

Movie Trailer

You never know when you're speaking to an angel or to someone who looks like they might not survive more than a few days, but later, somehow, against all odds, sobers up, rises up and then becomes living proof that that your life can change so dramatically, so quickly, you'd never believe it.

Although I want you to hear the story in her own words, I'll give a piece of it away because it is the title of this feature. Bobbi Jo went from addicted prostitute, living under box car, to owning 17 homes in Kansas City, Missouri, where she houses scores of addicts, originally, entirely free. She feeds them, helps them get sober and have another chance. They don't have to, but they all call her "mom" because she's given them a home.

This is the story of Bobbi Jo Reed. Another hero to inspire you.
